FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ADA, Michigan, September 17, 2002 - Global Forex Trading has announced that DealBookFX™, its proprietary trading software, will now be available in Chinese, Japanese, Spanish, Russian and German - in addition to its original language of English.

DealBookFX™ users will now be able to trade in any of these languages just by selecting the language of their choice to download that version.

"Our market is global, so it makes sense that our approach to trading languages represents a global view," said Gary Tilkin, president of Global Forex Trading. "We have many subscribers who speak all of these languages, and we aim to constantly enhance our service to them. Allowing them to use the software in their native tongue is a very important way to do that."

Foreign language selection is the latest addition to an impressive array of DealBookFX™ features, which also include:

- Single-click dealing. One mouse click buys or sells your choice of currency almost instantly.
- Real-time advanced technical chart analysis that charts GFT dealable prices with over 20 indicators and charting tools including alarms transmittable through web enabled cell phones.
- Customizable layouts that keep traders organized, connected and informed of changes in virtually any Forex market.
- Inter Trader eXchange (ITX), designed to allow traders to fill orders at prices even better than GFT's already tight spreads.
- Calculators that determine the current U.S. Dollar equivalent Pip value of any given currency from the symbol list and any selected price move.
- A Detailed Transaction Report for each user's account available anytime.
- Market Mentor™ powerful timing tools as part of a suite of proprietary trading tools.
